We Make Scholastic MATH!

Dear Teachers,

Have you ever wondered who makes Scholastic MATH? Let me introduce you to the team! Each issue starts with a brainstorming meeting of our editorial team—MATH's senior editor, education editor, editorial intern, and yours truly. Once we have a lineup, we get to work on the articles and lesson plans that go with each one. Then our talented art team gets to work transforming Word docs into gorgeous layouts using images our photo editor works tirelessly to get permission from photographers to use. Next our digital retoucher perfects the pics for print while our rock star copy editors save us from grammatical mishaps. All the while, our production editor is keeping us on track to ensure we hit our deadlines. But after the issue hits the press, the work's not done: Our digital editor makes sure everything is ready to go live on the website. Whew!

Each issue is a labor of love for this team of smart, enthusiastic people. We can't wait to share what we've made with you and your students. Here's to a great year of MATH!

Warmly,
Karina Hamalainen, Editor
