

Brady held his breath as the player shot the puck.
It hit Brady in the shoulder and dropped to the ice.

With a flick of his wrist, Brady fired the puck as hard as he could over to the sideboards.

Both teams watched as the puck
bounced off the boards and continued
sliding to the far end of the ice . . .
right into the empty net!