

It was a dark and stormy night, just how the monsters of Shivers Street liked it.

Willow and her friends were going to their favourite place to play: the abandoned house at the dead end of the street.

But there they were met with a ghastly sight!