The image contains two main scenes. The top scene shows two buckets, one blue and one green, on a wooden deck. Rain is falling around them, and water is splashing into the green bucket. The bottom scene is an inset showing a man wading through a flooded street. There are six empty rounded rectangular boxes with arrows pointing to different parts of the images: one points to the top of the blue bucket, one to the top of the green bucket, one to the rain falling on the blue bucket, one to the man in the flooded street, one to the water in the flooded street, and one to the rain falling on the green bucket.
